- Details: Mr. Blake's dance class and manners course is specifically designed for middle school students. At an age when awkwardness and poor self-image are common, learning the basics of social dance will allow students to interact and develop self-confidence. The first class will teach students how to escort one's partner to the dance floor. The second class will continue with students learning and practicing Mr. Blake's methods. In addition, the students will kick up their heels with country line dancing and other current dances. Parents will be invited to the latter part of the last class to partake in social dance with their student.
