Mapping Out Our Week

Reading: Reading Workshop

Monday marks the second book vs. movie event with The Wizard of Oz. Students who have turned in their "movie ticket" will enjoy viewing this classic! In reading, we will also review all of our reading strategies and skills through fun Halloween topics like pumpkin guts and vampire bats!

Writing: Writing Workshop

In writing, students have completed their personal narratives, so we look forward to sharing and celebrating our success. They are looking forward to sharing their absolutely true stories. Our grammar focus this week will be nouns, as students explore different types of nouns.

Math: Unit 3 – Subtraction/Rounding

Subtraction has proved to be challenging for over 90% of our class, so we have taken it slowly with concrete/pictorial representations in hopes that students truly understand the concept. This week, we will focus on traditional subtraction using a number model.

Science: Energy

In science, we have already started to learn about different types of energy in this mini unit. This week, we will focus on renewable/non-renewable resources and complete an experiment using water.
